A personal message from Councilor Park

Mark your calendars for July 4th! What better place to spend it than at the 10th Annual Fourth of July fireworks and festivities at Blue Lake Park. Celebrate Independence Day with music, fun and east county's best fireworks display at Blue Lake Regional Park in Fairview. Pack a picnic, load up your loved ones and join us for a good time for the whole family with fireworks, musical guests and playtime for children in the water spray ground. Activities are located at the west end of the park.

While there make sure you wander over and check out the Natural Discovery Garden where you can gather ideas to make your yard safe and fun for kids, songbirds, lakes and streams. All ages can explore a worm bin, climb rocks and logs or try to spot a hummingbird.

The food court opens at 5pm and the music begins at 6pm and events wrap up by 10pm. Admission is $10 per car, $12 per bus, RV or 15-passenger van. Please note, no pets, alcohol or personal fireworks are allowed. This year's event is presented by the Yoshida Group, sponsored by Gresham Outlook, Metro and City of Fairview.

Check out our online calendar (<http://calendar.oregonmetro.gov/events/>) for more information about this event.

Oregon Zoo Concerts a-go!

What do baby Samudra, summer weather and the B-52s have in common? They're all part of the Oregon Zoo's 31st annual summer concert series presented by NW Natural.

This year's zoo concert series promises to be an exhilarating experience with 18 shows from June through August. It is the longest-running outdoor concert series in the Pacific Northwest and one of the most anticipated events of the summer.

New this year is a showcase of local bands to take place Wednesday, July 8. Concert fans are asked to weigh in on which local bands they'd like to see perform that night. Voting for the showcase takes place through May 31 on the zoo's Web site.

The zoo concert series is presented by NW Natural with support from KINK.fm and KOIN Local 6. Tickets may be purchased at www.ticketmaster.com and at the zoo.

Funds raised during the concert series support several conservation projects, including the protection of threatened and endangered Northwest species.

General admission is $9.75 (12-64), seniors $8.25 (65+), children $6.75 (3-11), and infants 2 and under are free; 25 cents of the admission price helps fund regional conservation projects through the zoo's Future for Wildlife program. A parking fee of $2 per car is also required. Additional information is available at www.oregonzoo.org or by calling 503-226-1561.

Cooper Mountain Nature Park opens to visitors June 27th!

Overlooking the Tualatin River Valley, the new Cooper Mountain Nature Park sits on the edge of Beaverton. The 230-acre park offers visitors 3 1/2 miles of gravel trails (with varying levels of difficulty) traversing the park's rare habitats and natural features. Cooper Mountain Nature Park is operated through a partnership between Metro and the Tualatin Hills Park & Recreation District.

Explore Cooper Mountain's diverse and rare habitats

Thick and thin soils atop cracked basalt form patchwork patterns at Cooper Mountain: wet and dry, forest and prairie, fir and oak. Rare and endangered species such as Western gray squirrels, pale larkspurs, Western bluebirds, and red-legged frogs find homes on this site and, if you know where and when to look, can be seen by visitors.

Summer programs help visitors discover the wonders of Cooper Mountain

Summer camps, bird walks, wildlife photography workshops, twilight explorations, stargazing and much more will all be part of the inaugural summer season at Cooper Mountain Nature Park. To register for events or programs call: 503-629-6350 or visit <http://www.thprd.org/parks/coopermountain.cfm>.

Cooper Mountain's stewardship a joint venture

The Tualatin Hills Park & Recreation District will provide day to day management of Cooper Mountain Nature Park which including park ranger operations, security service, educational programming, park maintenance and natural resource management. Voter-approved funds allowed Metro to purchase land at Cooper Mountain beginning in 1997. More land acquisition followed until 230 acres were protected. Park development is supported by voter funding and a grant from Oregon State Parks. Volunteers have participated in nearly every aspect of Cooper Mountain's transformation.

Green from the ground up

The park and Nature House at Cooper Mountain have been built using many sustainable and energy-saving features:

- benches, boardwalks and bridges made from recycled plastic lumber
- photovoltaic system generating approximately 15 percent of power needs
- on-site storm water retention uses bioswales planted with native species to filter run-off from the parking lot and Nature House.

Discover the benefits of gardening naturally

Metro's showcase natural garden at Cooper Mountain features amazingly colorful, surprisingly low-maintenance and wildlife-friendly plants. Visitors can gather ideas for making their home garden beautiful without harmful chemicals and reducing water use by including drought-tolerant plants. ## About Metro

Clean air and clean water do not stop at city limits or county lines. Neither does the need for jobs, a thriving economy and good transportation choices for people and businesses in our region. Voters have asked Metro to help with the challenges that cross those lines and affect the 25 cities and three counties in the Portland metropolitan area.

A regional approach simply makes sense when it comes to protecting open space, caring for parks, planning for the best use of land, managing garbage disposal and increasing recycling. Metro oversees world-class facilities such as the Oregon Zoo, which contributes to conservation and education, and the Oregon Convention Center, which benefits the region's economy.
