Dear Mr. Bailey:

I want to introduce myself to you: I am the new manager at Smith and Bybee Lakes Wildlife Area. Emily Roth left for another position in December, and I came on as the new manager in mid-February. My background is fisheries and wildlife management, and I am enthusiastic about the wetland restoration work that can be done at Smith and Bybee lakes.

I am looking forward to working with all of my management committee members, but I have not had an opportunity to meet you at the committee meetings that have occurred this spring. I hope that you are still interested in serving on the Smith and Bybee Lakes Management Committee.

Would you be available to meet me in the next few weeks and talk about the wildlife area and current issues? I am hoping to galvanize neighborhood work parties for habitat restoration and would greatly appreciate your ideas and perspective as a citizen representative on the management committee. Please call me at 797-1515 at your earliest convenience to set up a meeting. I look forward to meeting you.

Sincerely,

Elaine Stewart
