

From: Christina Billington
To: Rod Park
Subject: Morning voice mail

Rod,

Monday

7:35am from Susan Hunter (3 minutes)

She too did not want to thwart the process. She only called you because Ethan had suggested she call you. She even has problems with that so she had called you last week with a prepared statement mostly saying if you had any questions she would be available. Ethan thought it was OK to lobby you. She told Ethan she had ethical concerns about members being on the board, ranking and voting on proposals. She has real concerns with this and is still not convinced that she shouldn't just get an attorney and asked them to investigate. She appreciated you calling back. She was there last Friday to participate in the process, felt it was a frustrating process, the blind leading the blind. She appreciated you trying to move things forward. Thinks you are doing a good job, there is fairness in the process at least for those she is dealing with. But she had some other questions. Spoke to Caverly about a letter of support, they both felt it was a conflict of interest, therefore, she did not approach you for a letter of support. The one meeting she attended she saw one of the council people advocating for a particular proposal. But process looks odd when Attebury is sitting up there talking, odd to those who had also submitted a proposal but hadn't had opportunity to say anything. She appreciated the hard road you are hoeing. She can take whatever outcome, she feels bad for kids if they don't have summer program.

Rod, left this message on your system to listen to in full but transcribe most of the message. Chris

12:29pm from Cathy, Portland Expo Center 503 736-5200

Will you be attending the grand opening this Wednesday, 3/28? Let me know and I will place on your calendar.

Transferred message from Pat M's station - morning

Tina from POVA 503 275-9763

Are you planning to attend POVA meeting 4/13/01 from 7:30am-9:30am.

Rod, let me know on both events and I will call back and place on your calendar. Chris

CC: Rod Park