

METROPOLITAN CITIZENS' LEAGUE
FACT SHEET

The Metropolitan Citizens' League was formed in 1980 by private citizens to support regional development of appropriate public services in Portland's two-state, four-county, multiple-community urban complex.

The Citizens' League is the only Portland-area organization devoted solely to improving tax efficiency, political accountability and economic conditions through regional solutions. It has roots in earlier citizen movements including the Tri-County Local Government Commission, the study group that pressed for creation of the Metropolitan Service District.

Citizens' League study committees have investigated a number of issues including urban services to unincorporated areas, and amending Metro's role, and tri-county libraries. Their findings have been conveyed to the Legislature and other appropriate bodies. Recent study committees have been concerned with citizen education, local government finance, parks, Metropolitan Service District, and public safety.

A membership drive is underway, with the aim of providing minimal staff services to manage the monthly public luncheons, public affairs and education activities, and to maintain internal records and correspondence.

* * *

factshee

Metropolitan Citizens' League

Fact Sheet

The Metropolitan Citizens' League was formed in 1980 by private citizens to support regional development of appropriate public services in Portland's two-state, four-county, multiple-community urban complex.

The Citizens' League is the only Portland-area organization devoted solely to improving tax efficiency, political accountability and economic conditions through regional solutions. It has roots in earlier citizen movements including the Tri-County Local Government Commission, the study group that pressed for creation of the Metropolitan Service District.

Citizens' League study committees have investigated a number of issues including urban services to unincorporated areas and amending Metro's role, and have conveyed their findings to the Legislature and other appropriate bodies. Recent study committees have been concerned with citizen education, local government finance, parks, Metropolitan Service District, libraries and public safety.

A membership drive is underway, with the aim of providing minimal staff services with a parttime executive director to manage the monthly public luncheons, public affairs and education activities, and to maintain internal records and correspondence.
